Product Detail

Clean look

The power plug of our drawing screen adopts a special bend Angle of 90°, and the power cord uses white instead of traditional black, which is small and good-looking, so that when it is in the wall hanging state, the wire will not leak out, and there is no wire in front, which has a cleaner, minimalist look.

EASY SETUP & USE

User-friendly interface design makes it easy-to-use for all ages. It's very easy to set up and you just hang the frame as usual with the help of our horizontal beads.

Product Feature and Application

These high-quality frame adopts a foggy surface effect, which makes the display more realistic than normal. As well as anti-glare technology, it can automatically adjust the display's brightness to match the room's ever-changing ambient light. It also has a body-sensing module that makes sure it lights up when people approach and goes off when they leave to save power, and it can be programmed to shut down at regular intervals.
